SOLDIER BOYS HAVE GONE

A Dozen Young Men From Here Entrain Wednesday.

The first lot of our young American patriots left for the national army training camp Wednesday morning from Santa Rosa and they were given a farewell that will live long in their memories not because of the spectacular side of it for that was not the pronounced part of the send-off accorded them, but because heartfelt thanks and real feeling were written on every face in the crowd which wished them Godspeed. From the precious mother to the total stranger each and every one showed the appreciation and the interest which is befitting the boys who are to make that noble fight for us in war swept Europe. Mothers with tear dimmed eyes pressed their boys to their hearts, girls kissed their sweethearts and men grasped their hands in affectionate farewell and a silent benediction more impressive than eloquent spoken words, went with the boys on their journey.

Many of Sonoma's young men left for Santa Rosa on the auto bus Tuesday afternoon and others went in private conveyances in order to report at headquarters Tuesday evening and to receive instructions as to their entrainment.

The Revie brothers, Charles and Archie, Richard V. Vernon, Zeph Marcy and others were the center of an admiring crowd of friends and relatives as they climbed aboard the auto bus in front of the Union Hotel at 2 o'clock. There was no formal farewell arranged but many leading citizens were on hand to wish the boys good luck and shake them by the hand prior to their leave taking.

All the Sonoma boys presented themselves at headquarters at the appointed hour and with the other soldiers selected for service in their contingent were put through drill by Capt. Claypool of the Home Guards. After spending the night at the county seat they marched to the Northwestern depot at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning accompanied by a guard of honor and the Santa Rosa band.

The demonstration at the depot was marked by two impressive talks, one by Judge Emmett Seawell and the other by Rolfe Thompson, one of the "Four Minute" men. Their words were beautiful tributes to the boys and an assurance of the high motives which actuate this country of ours in its participation in the war. After the splendid addresses there was music by the band and then came the train and the final parting with loved ones. Goodbye and Good bless you was heard on every side and as the proud smiling faces of the lads looked from the car windows the heart of every true American beat high and our boys were cheered to the echo. The roll of honor in Sonoma Valley includes the following names:

Frank D. Groskopf, Zephyin Marcy, Hazen T. Cowan, Chas. S. Revie, Richard Vernon, Robert H. Canning, Jacob Yenni, Wm. Gelderman, Antone Keiser, Isador Leveroni, Archibold Revie, John Milton Sobbe and John Frey of Kenwood as substitites.

Sonoma's first offering of soldiers includes some of our finest young men whose reputation for sobriety, industry and staunch qualities we review with pride. That they will give a good account of themselves in the service of Uncle Sam goes without saying.

The following Sonoma Valley boys will leave for Camp Lewis, Washington, on Oct. 3rd.

James Duncan, Otto Dresel, Philip Zeiro, Barnett Cohen, Theodore Beach, Corbett Cowan, William Kehoe Ren Vernon, Edward Peterson, Andrew Alexandria, and Wm. Kennedy.

WEDS SOLDIER BEFORE DEPARTURE

Miss Gertrude Breitenbach Plights Her Troth to Frank Groskopf Tuesday Evening.

Romance was interwoven with the serious preparation for war duty at Santa Rosa Tuesday night when Miss Gertrude Breitenbach, one of Sonoma's most popular belles plighted her troth to her soldier sweetheart, Frank Groskopf, and wedding bells resounded through the court house where Justice Vaughn tied the nuptial knot.

Miss Breitenbach and Mr. Groskopf have been keeping company for some time past and when the time for their parting came, due to the young man's call to the army training camp at American Lake, they decided they would join their futures in marriage.

It was not until after breakfast on Tuesday that the young lady confided her plans to the family and told them of the secret which she has been keeping ever since Mr. Groskopf's call to arms. The families gave their blessing to the young people and accompanied them to Santa Rosa where the cermony took place.

Mrs. Groskopf is a girl of many beautiful traits of character and beloved by a large circle of friends. She has been an efficient bookkeeper for Leveroni and Maffei and is a capable and bright young business woman. She has been the center of much attention at all of our social affairs and with her attractive sisters enjoyed great popularity.

Mr. Groskopf is a highly esteemed young man. He has been employed the Navy Yard at Mare Island prior to his call for military duty.

Congratulations are extended the handsome couple and their many friends wish Mr. Groskopf a safe and quick return and hope they will pass many years of happiness together after peace has been declared and war ended.

Mrs. Groskopf has resigned her position here and accepted a more lucrative one with a large mercantile concern of San Francisco.

Rev. Mr. Rimer will preach at the Episcopal Church Sunday at 11 a. m. Sunday school at 9.45 a. m.

ROAD PLAN IS UNCHANGED

Supervisors Despite Concrete Boosters Will Build Type of Roads Decided Upon.

At the request of the Tax Payers League of Sonoma county and at the special invitation of Contra Costa county, the Supervisors and a number of leading citizens journeyed to our neighboring county one day last week to inspect the type of roads which have found favor there and to hear the praises of concrete sung over any other type of material in highway construction.

The Supervisors and their party were royally treated and found that much of the hospitality was accorded by the Mt. Diablo Cement Company who were most pleased to demonstrate the merits of concrete road construction the initial cost of $16,000-22,000 per mile being a small matter, mentioned only by the Contra Costa Supervisors and not by the concrete people.

Contra County is putting in about ten miles of 18ft. concrete roadways each year and while the taxes are high they are paid for the most part by the dozen or more big corporations owning property there. As a matter of fact the assessed valuation of Contra Costa property outside of the oil companies, is much less than that of Sonoma county. The cement boosters at first made a present of some nice highway to Contra Costa county, now their chief demonstration booth, and then proceeded to entrench themselves in the good graces of the Contra Costa officials. They contrasted poor oil macadam, such as Sonoma once tried to its sorrew, with the smooth, durable surface of concrete and as it never occured to the officials there to experiment with different oil macadam or learn the lesson of the proper grade of oil and the necessary strata or foundation which must hold up the cheaper type of road, Contra Costa is strong for concrete.

Sonoma county's Supervisors, though wined and dined to the tune of a well selected chorus of concrete boosters, came back unconvinced, however, that a fraction of road work each year at $20,000 per mile has practical merit as compared with their plan to expend $2000 or so a mile on an eminently satisfactory type of road and to give the tax payers enough roads in each district each year so that traveling over the laterals will be good while we of this generation are still in our prime and have our "flivers" to enjoy. They rightly figure that if Sonoma county starts in to build its laterals of concrete with the present amount of funds available, we would all be septugenarains before we were able to make a continuous trip over the finished and perfect system of county highway. As to the capital that would be tied up, the interest alone on it would build some roads.

While not deprecating the merits of concrete where the whole state can join in paying for roads of this type and where it is feasible to build enough at once to make "the going" a pleasure and practical aid to the traveling public, the Sonoma county dads intend to abide by their present well thought out system of road building whereby at nominal cost and within a short time, the people of the various districts will be given satisfactory roads, the price of which when contrasted with that of concrete will permit of renewal until we get sufficient funds to put in a continuous system of the more expensive and durable type of highway.

Work in Supervisor Weise's district is progressing and inside of six weeks it is predicted we will see the building of the Santa Rosa road via Agua Caliente and Kenwood and the completion of the fine county highway between here and El Verano.

Contractor Peter Basaglia has put in the culvert on Napa street just outside of the city limits and will construct all the culverts and bridges between here and Kenwood. He has five or six Sonoma Valley men as helpers and they will work every day including Sunday until their part of the road improvement is completed.

Sonoma Valley has a fine hard strata foundation on which to build the cheaper type road and when the rock or gravel is thoroughly clean and the work put in right this kind of road will hold up for six years with proper attention.

At any rate the county's reputation will not suffer as it would should we be dill dallying around with hit and miss units of concrete. Sonoma county will meanwhile be getting its quota of automobile traffic and new acquisition of investors and tax payers who will later help us out on the type of roads now being built by the big corporations of Contra Costa county.

Prof. Vincent G. Nicoletti of San Francisco is to start a class in the languages for the Sonoma people. He will instruct in Italian, French, Spanish and English.

ALLEGE BAKER IS INCOMPETENT

Suspicious Circumstances Point to His Victimization and Leads to Detention of Gustav Reinelt.

Because Deputy Sheriff Murray and friends of August Schweighardt believe him to be incompetent and liable to become the willing victim of designing persons, they caused the detention of Gustav Reinelt whom they suspect of trying to mule the rich old baker out of money and other property.

Last Saturday, the day following the filing of a petition in the Superior Court praying for his guardianship, Sweighardt drove up to the bank with Reinelt who has of late ingratiated himself in the favor of the eccentric old man, and drew $500. The transaction excited suspicion because of the fact that Reinelt has seemed to dominate Schweighardt for some time past and his attitude has led to open criticism since he persuaded the baker to abandon the premises he has occupied for so many years and gave orders to have all of Schweighardt's belongings removed to his chicken ranch north west of town.

When it became known that the baker had taken out $500 from the bank his friends became suspicious that Reinelt was to reap the benefit of it and they put officer Murray on the case. Murray upon investigation found that Reinelt was in possession of all the baker's private papers, had access to his safe and custody of two bank books showing savings accounts in two San Francisco banks. When questioned as to his motives he made several contradictory statements and the discrepancies in his stories as to his intent coupled with his general attitude, led the deputy sheriff to suspect that Reinelt had not allowed Schweighardt's coin to get cold in his pocket but had straightway transferred it to his own use. He was sharply interrogated and finally admitted having $200 of the $500 drawn from the bank. He claimed, so it is alleged, that the baker owed him that amount for board. After some time he at last admitted that he had the $500 and was prevailed upon to turn over the money to the officer, pending an inquiry into the transaction and the determination of Schweighardt's competency. Letters of guardianship filed last Friday by Wm. Helberg through his attorney R. A. Poppe, are pending and the matter comes up for a hearing Monday at Santa Rosa.

Following the confirmation of suspicions in regard to Reinalt's mercenary interest in the aged baker and the finding of many of Schweighardt's papers in his possession, the chicken man, who is by trade an aeroplane builder and machinist, was taken into custody. It developed that he had given orders to C. E. Johnson, the expressman, to move all of Schweighardt's belongings to his permises, that he had the keys to his safe and was in complete possession of the smallest detail of the old man's business affairs.

Some weeks ago Mrs. Sherman, an old time friend, came up from San Francisco and found the man suspected of intended victimization of Sonoma's pioneer German baker on the Broadway premises acting in a manner which excited her suspicion. She confided her fears to Schweighardt and warned him about his new made friend.

Reinelt contends that he knew Schweigart in the old country many years prior to last December when he bought the chicken ranch here but since Reinelt is only a little past forty and the baker has been in this country forty-six years, the story does not seem to dovetail.

Some credence was given to the report that the transaction between Schweighardt and Reinelt was entirely regular because of the fact that they tried to get papers drawn up by Attorney R. A. Poppe but Mr. Poppe declares that they did not come to him and that Reinelt and his wife came to his office on business but once and then to have conveyances of the land purchased here in the Haraszthy tract drawn up.

Reinelt's record is being investigated by the Dirtict Attorney's office and the circumstances in connection with Schweighardt who is apparently in a state to become a willing victim of persons of design, will be thoroughly aired when the Helberg petition for guardianship comes up Monday.

Mr. Schweighardt has been a successful business man and a good citizen of Sonoma for many years and his failing health has caused his friends grave anxiety. He is a man of considerable means, some of his money being invested in dividend paying oil companies and his savings accounts in San Francisco banks aggregating several thousands of dollars. He was known to have kept much money on hand in his safe.

A charge of burglary has been placed against Reinelt for entering Schweighardt's premises with felonious intent. He was released on $500 bail furnished by D. Kennell and Henry Watters.

CLEARS SLATE IN JUSTICE COURT

Judge Small Dismisses Many Cases and Ends Threatened Litigation.

Judge Lester Small's court was alive with business Tuesday morning when disposition was made of four or five cases which had been pending for some time before His Honor.

In the case of H. B. Boring vs. Ben Stoneman, an embezzlement matter, Rolf Thompson of Santa Rosa appeared for the defendant and District Attorney Hoyle representated the people. While the transaction between Boring and the horse trader was alleged to be irregular, Thompson made it appear that Stoneman's horse left with Boring was as good a one as Stoneman was alleged to have made away with. He made a convincing plea for his client and as a result Stoneman was discharged. Several checks which were questionable and bid fair to cause the young horse swapper trouble, were made good and the charge brought by A. Rossi of El Verano to get back certain property in Stoneman's possession was satisfactory adjusted. Stoneman is now a free man much to the relief of his wife and 15 months old baby. Thompson while tinging his eloquence with pathos for his client, took occasion to unbridle also his sarcasm, much to the discomfort of Deputy Sheriff Murray, one of the State's witnesses.

The charge of reckless driving brought against Garry Bertoli following the injury of Mrs. Lola Parente near the Oaks some months ago, was dismissed as the time limit in which prosecution should begin had elapsed and Parente showed no special desire to proceed.

The Manuck case was also expurged from the calendar and formally dismissed.

An echo of the local Chinatown raid for opium over a year ago was brought out when the case of the State Board of Pharmacy vs. Joe Lock et al was called. As conviction seemed impossible and unlikely, the charge against the popular tong arbitrator and a fellow celestial was dismissed, no effort being made by the Board of Pharmacy in the interin of time since they were supposedly caught with the goods, to go on with the legar proceedinggs. Rolfe Thompson represented the perpetrators of the raid fiasco.

YOUTH SEEKS TO EVADE SERVICE

An exciting episode of the departure of the soldier boys was the telegram sent when the train stopped at Petaluma announcing that one of the Santa Rosa boys had disappeared and could not be located when the names were checked up although he had gone aboard with the others.

The sheriff and police of Santa Rosa were at once on the trail of the missing youth. Several hours later he appeared on the street and was taken into custody.

The Exemption Board decided to return him to the contingent rather than to turn him over as a deserter so Joe Ryan was delegated to meet the train bound for American Lake when it reached Suisun and put the recalcitrant youth aboard.

They made good connections at Suisun and the missing soldier rejoined his companions while Joe had a chance to again greet the Sonoma boys and received a hearty ovation.

E. E. BENNETT IS REELECTED PRESIDENT OF POULTRYMEN

At a meeting of the Sonoma Valley poultrymen last week there was an election of officers and E. E. Bennett was reelected president, an office he has filled with marked success. His opponent was Mr. Hawkins of El Verano. Mr. Bennett has built up the affairs of the association and done his share towards bringing about the 17 per cent dividend declared by the Poultrymens Association of Central California.

JOHN LOUNIBOS DIED THURSDAY

Passing of Old Resident After Lingering Illness.

John P. Lounibos, a prominent resident and old settler of Sonoma Valley, died at his home in El Verano Thursday. Death came as a climax to a lingering illness from which the 77 years old pioneer never rallied.

Mr. Lounibos, who was a native of France, settled in Sonoma in the early seventies. His young days spent in the vineyards of sunny France, gave him an expert knowledge of winemaking and in 1875 he was cellerman for the Willows Wine Company, a pioneer enterprise doing business in the famous Blue Wing adobe and fostered by influential citizens such as Wm. Burns, Ward Bradford, Major Rufus, Albert Lyons, D. O. Shattuck, Douglas Church and others who were incorporated under the name of the Willows Company. Some time prior to 1880 the business suffered a disastrous fire whereupon Mr. Lounibos was employed by the Hearst vineyards at Madrone where he remained in a responsible position for ten or twelve years.

Through shrewd dealing and investments Mr. Lounibos acquired considerable property, and land at Caliente and El Verano was subdivided into town lots through his enterprise.

At the death of hs wife in 1893 his only daughter, Annie, was united in marriage to Henry Chauvet, the ceremony being performed just before Mrs. Lounibos passed away.

Besides Mrs. Chauvet the pioneer wine man leaves two sons John and Emile to mourn his passing. Another son, Germain, died some years ago.

The funeral takes place this morning at 11 o'clock from St. Francis Church and thence to Mountain cemetery where the remains will be interred on the reposeful hillside of our historic city.

"My Country 'Tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty."

Here Is the Place to Begin

The Press Democrat is voicing the sentiment that if all concrete road work is to be done by the Supervisors with their tax levy, the money should all be spent in one place, on the Sebastopol to Santa Rosa road. Now that may be a popular speil for the Press-Democrat to hand out but we would suggest that if the money is to be put on one stretch of permanent road, it should be from Schellville toward Santa Rosa. Let the Supervisors get the Highway Commission together and let them finish the Black Point Cut off, surfacing and then connect up with the proposed concrete county work. Since Sonoma county has a lot of money tied up in the Cut-off, the only way to get results is to see that the State work in this Supervisorial district is finished and the unit of a county highway laid down where traffic may be diverted from the smooth state highway through the Sonoma valley because of the equally attractive roads leading through this beautiful section to the county seat. It is the logical place to begin if Contra Costa's advice on the most desirable type of road work is to be considered.

Bad Roads Beget Bad Boosters

It is to be hoped that the State Highway Commission, particularly Mr. Wiedermann of Vallejo, will see the black eye the Black Point Cut-off route in its present raw state received in a recent issue of the S. F. Chronicle. It is to be hoped that both Napa and this portion of Sonoma county will get busy after this expose and make it imperative on the powers that be to finish what they have started and to thus make valuable this hard earned route which reduces the time between the Sacramento valley and San Francisco and also opens up the famed Napa valley and the most scenic and historic portion of Sonoma county to automobile traffic. If this road over the $100,000 bascule bridge is not surfaced and put in the condition it should be, all the money put up by Marin, Napa and Sonoma will be as naught and the last $15,000,000 state bond issue to us a fiasco.

Governor Stephens has been over this road and knows its value to the traveling public. If he has his ear to the ground, and he must this close to election, he will get our feelings in the matter and convey to his colleagues his intuition of pleasing the electorate in this part of the State by finishing up that piece of highway. Unpleasant notoriety like the following is enough to excite any community to action:

"If you are considering taking the trip by automobile to the Valley of the Moon, by way of the much-talked-of Black Point Cut-off," writes a reader of the automobile section of the Chronicle, "there is a word of advice the motorist should heed.

Hesitate.

Either heed that one word of advice or put off the trip. There may be a few worse pieces of road in California. The Gaviote Pass on the coast road between Santa Ynez Mission and the ocean, just north of Santa Barbara, is worse, or was when the highway was being constructed and machines were forced to make innumerable detours. But that road is not held out as a speedway.

For some reason the road over the magnificent new bridge on the Black Point Cut-off is supposed to be under construction. At least, it is so marked on the map. To drive over it one would suppose that a layer of rocks had been put over the original corderoy.

Marin and Sonoma roads never were good and some are still very bad. Before I go any farther I might just as well say that the new highway from Petauma to a point north of Ignacio is a grand road, smooth as a billiard table, and with nice, easy grades.

If you are bound for the Black Point Cut-off despite this warning, pass Novato until you see a yellow sign at the left hand side of the road. It's th second turn to the right. Thenyou speed at ten miles an hour over the hill to an inlet and the big cantilever bridge. Then there is a dreary drive over bumps across the valley, which is almost desolate, and then through a rolling country over bumpy roads until you reach the Sonoma Valley.

Up the valley over dirt roads that are not so terrible you make your way to the historic old town of Sonoma. It is a pretty old placce with its plaza and Mission and all. Here the old timers will tell you that if you are going on to the springs you will strike some good roads.

'Just jog along over this rough going until you strike a yellow sign post and you turn to your right,' directed a kind faced old man, whose two teeth met and showed when he smiled through his abundant whiskers, 'You can't miss it. It's the first road you will see and I guess from the direction you came it's the first one you have seen for some time.'

Old "Father Time" was right. The road is a wonder, smooth as glass and bordered with trees and just the place for the motorist. Along that delightful highway we sped in our Hudson roadster, passed Boyes Springs and up to Fetters.

Now the trouble is all over. For heading toward El Verano you jog over a wonderful rolling country to Pettaluma. It is a dirt road, but one of those over which you can shoot along at twenty-five miles an hour without bumping you very much. After the roads of the morning it was wonderful.

The approach to Petaluma is bad but not bad enough to make any attempt to avoid. Turu to your left when you get on the main street in Petaluma and bump along to the outskirts to town when you strike one of the finest highways in the State. You stick right on that until you get within a few miles of the sign post near Novato, where you made a bad mistake and took the Black Point Cut-off. From here you continue on the main highway to Sausalio, delicious fog and home in that dear old San Francisco."

The unitiated and thoroughly exasperated scribe could not see anything interesting in the topography of a country whose roads turned his liver over in such a fashion that he got a jaundiced view of everything about him. Now as a matter of fact the Black Point Cut-off approach is a beautiful vista to a nature lover and observer but no shock absorber is equal to the task of neutralizing the distorted impressions conveyed to one via the the spine hitting the convolutions of a chuck-hole road. All nature's out of tune under such circumstances. The traveler, though at heart an artist, lover of landscape and sensitive to the artistry of nature, is blinded to the colorful ensemble of our marshes, the golden fields of rendolent hay, the phantastic flight of the brazen blackbird. The motorist, though by nature a hunter and lover of duck season, forgets to be interested in the haunts of his quarry. His mind is never allowed to drift to such pleasant contemplation or to hearken to the call of the country about him. It is all lost because of the road he travels.

Now the Chronicle kicker wasn't a bad fellow at heart for as soon as he got on to fairly decent roads he was kindly in his comments. Our plaza and Mission interested him and our road to the springs pleased him. He admitted that we have the goods but the way to our bargain counter is long and hard. The kernel of the matter is that we have a lot of money tied up in the Black Point Cut-off proposition and positively cannot realize anything off of it other than harmful advertising until the Highway Commission gets busy and completes its work. May it be soon!

A statement apparently official, deprecates the fact that the government has not enough money for an all-around paid newspaper advertising campaign in the next Liberty Loan issue and adds that it has not been decided whether the publicity decided upon will be newspaper or some other kinds of advertising. If the bill board fellows and the bill posters and the sign painters and the lumber-men and the moving picture houses offer their wares and their services for nothing, it will be just what the newspapers did in the last Liberty Bond campaign.

However, if any money is appropriated for publicity it is certainly coming to the newspapers. They not only deserve it but as a business proposition are entitled to it.

Here and there we observe an attempt to tack the prohibition sign to the G. O. P. Now the time honored emblematic elephant has not much of a tail to switch off bothersome pests but he has a trunk that we bet he will use.

The Examiner commends nation wide womans sufferage because mothers have such high ambitions for their boys that they will put these ideals into effect at the polls. Perhaps, but they can put them into better effect at the knee or if need be across the knee.

The creation of an artificial basis by labor unions and the power that dissension and trouble gives paid agitators and leaders, make any arrangements entered into by capital and labor under the present system nothing but a house of cards—the metaphor expressive of the unstability but not strong enough, for what tumbles in these cases is usually brick bats and rocks, the whole social fabric shattered.

Junketing Supervisors are criticized but the junket of today is usually profitable to communities for junkets in automobiles enlarge the understanding and broadens the vision. Old modes of travel begot "stalling," but the modern way keeps the travelers alert, wide awake and a stranger to moss acquirement.

SCIENTIST INQUIRING INTO SONOMA'S INDIANS

A professor of archaelogy from the University of California passed through El Verano this week on his way to Fowler Creek and the hills west of town to investigate the fast vanishing evidence of Indian life in the Sonoma Valley. The scientist had maps and other data of direction to guide him in his search for material.

While there has been some interesting finds in this vicinity the remnants of the once populous race are now very scarce and as for Indians there are now less than half a dozen in this vicinity.

An epidemic of smallpox wiped out the Sonoma Indians in early days.

Dr. L. B. Lawson, Optometrist of Lawson-Rinner Optical Co., Santa Rosa will be at the Union Hotel Sept., 27th.

NOT ENOUGH CHILDREN

ever receive the proper balance of food to sufficiently nourish both body and brain during the growing period when nature's demands are greater than in mature life. This is shown in so many pale faces, lean bodies, frequent colds, and lack of ambition.

For all such children we say with unmistakable earnestness: They need Scott's Emulsion, and need it now. It possesses in concentrated form the very food elements to enrich their blood. It changes weakness to strength; it makes them sturdy and strong. No alcohol.

FRATERNAL ORDER HONORS BOYS

The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of Sonoma honored the leavetaking of their two members, Archie Revie and Ray Cooper for army service by giving them a farewell party last Saturday night.

As Odd Fellows hall was engaged the Hunter-Hanger home was the scene of th festivities which will long be treasured in the memories of these two boys now in the service of Uncle Sam. The artistic rooms were ablaze with lights and touches of appropriate decorations and cards were enjoyed until midnight when the hospital lodge members provided a delicious spread. It was a jolly hour spent about the buffet tables during which good wishes and genuine regret mingled with expressions of farewell recorded the two splendid young men of this fraternal order who have gone forth to serve their country.

Archie Revie has been a faithful and accomodating clerk in the local post office and a decided credit to the lodge with which he affiliated.

Ray Cooper, the pleasant former employee of Bordson and Gottenberg also made a good record in business nad leaves behind many friends and brothers of his fraternity who will ever be interested in his success and well-being.

Those present at the farewell were the following:

Miss Jessie Hiser, Stella McGill, Agnes Revie, Amy Rowe, Gladys Small, Providence LaTorres, Portia Hamilton, Edna Cooper; Mesdames Eph Cutter, Ada Pauli, Josie Cooper, Susie Revie, and Saylor; Mr. andMrs. John Wagnon, Philip Bill, Claude Johnson, Charles LaTorres, Rea Hunter, W. T. Hanger; Messrs. Will Dunn, Harry Dunn, Ray Cooper, Archie Revie, Roy Pauli, Ralph Busby, Fred Rubke, J. M. Cheney, and Otto Waldorf.

JOY RIDE TO STATE FAIR

Bloss Keecher and Louis Felder drove up to the State Fair last Saturday in Felder's car and enjoyed several days sight seeing. Both young men are well known stock raisers of the valley and they spent some time looking over fine stock at the Napa State Hospital and at Davis.

They greeted the Sonoma exhibitors on the Fair grounds and also remained to see the great collision between the engines and the daring feat of Helen Holmes, the beautiful movie actress.

The boys came home via Monticello and declare it to be a very scenic route.

$24 A TON FOR GRAPES

Grape growers are to receive big prices for their grapes this year if the price fixed by the Migliavacca Wine Co., of Napa which has been crushing to full capacity for the past three weeks, is any criterion.

The Migliavacca Company is paying for red wine grapes $24 per ton spot cash.

The Migliavacca crushers have been busy on grapes received from Yolo county and Monday started in crushing Napa grapes.

In speaking of the vintage Monday, Jos. Migliavacca said: "We will work our crushers to their utmost capacity until well on into November, and will probably make more wine than ever before in the history of our institution."

BELLEVUE HOTEL CHANGES HANDS

The well known Bellevue Hotel of El Verano which has been conducted for the past year by O. C. Benjamin, has changed hands, Mr. Benjamin retiring on account of the health of himself and wife who has been in the hospital under treatment.

Mrs. Fetters, owner of the property, will take it over until she can lease it to advantage.

With the retirement of Mr. Benjamin El Verano will lose a substantial and good resort man. His place has enjoyed an enviable reputation and his regular patrons returned each season because of the good treatment always accorded them.

Benjamin will go to the mountains for a much needed rest before making any definite plans for the future.

Paul Dewey, the son of former residents, was up Wednesday from San Francisco bidding friends goodbye prior to leaving with the next contingent of drafted men for American Lake.

Arthur Carmer left with the soldier boys from San Rafael this week.

Harris Levy of Portland has been visiting his friend Harold Koenig.

Mrs. Harvey is back again in Sonoma and will occupy the Stofen residence keeping house for her son, Dr. Chas. L. Harvey, Sonoma's well known professional man.

Miss Isabelle Trudgen has returned home from an extended visit in Los Angeles.

Bert Gale who left for American Lake with the Martinez boys some days ago, is gradually getting acclimated and his last letters to his brother Archie are brimful of enthusiasm. Bert is an orderly to the Colonel of the regiment.

LOOK WHO'S HERE!

Theodore Gallagher and Max Steinfels, two residents of San Francisco, have leased from Theodore Richards the club house and buildings on the county road at Agua Caliente Springs. The lessees will take charge at once and will conduct the bar at the club house, the dance hall opposite and the other structure for a swell grill for summer visitors.

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors Thursday the liquor license of Mr. Richards at the club house was transfered to Messrs. Gallagher and Steinfels, and one held by Katherine Richards was transfered to Theodore Richards for use at the Agua Caliente Springs hotel.

Mr. Gallagher is none other than he of "Gallagher and His Dog" fame, the clever comedian with the fine voice who has appeared often for worthy causes in the valley together with his wonderful canine. His songs at Boyes Springs and at Union Hall where he sang for St. Francis church benefits, took the audiences by storm. Mr. Gallagher is a genial and wide-awake business man and will undoubtedly make good at the always popular "Lark," as the club house at Agua Caliente was formerly called.

His partner, Mr. Max Steinfels, is and up-to-date and popular resident of San Francisco who sees big possibilities in the charms of Sonoma Valley and its pioneer resort Agua Caliente.

Messrs. Gallagher and Steinfels have engaged the famous Jacobs, late of Tait Zinkands Cafe as their chief mixologist, and they plan to refurnish the club house and to open up a grill in connection.

Gallagher's dog is with him.

Fritz Helberg and his fiancee, Miss Edna Holubar accompanied by Misses Valera and Marie Helberg were up from San Francisco for Mrs. Fred Helberg's birthday Thursday. Fritz was saying au revoir to his folks prior to his leaving shortly for the army camp in Washington.

OLD PIONEER IS NO MORE

Jim Pieratt Dies After Protracted Illness in Santa Rosa.

"Jim" Pieratt, known from one end of the Sonoma valley to the other, has crossed the Great Divide and thus another old timer departs to blaze the trail into the Great Eternity, whose road we must all travel. "Jim" Pieratt was a typical woodsman and lover of the great out-of-doors. He was an ardent sportsman and has been the guide for many hunting parties since the early days. His folks came here in 1850 and were Kentuckians.

Mr. Pieratt was a farmer and all but one of a large family. His brother, Albert Pieratt of Pope Valley, Napa county, survives him.

Some months ago "Jim" suffered a bad fall and since that time had never been himself. He was in the hospital several weeks prior to his death but nothing could be done for him on account of his advanced age. He had been such an active man that his condition greatly worried him and he finally succumbed last Friday.

The funeral was in this valley where he spent so many of his happy care free days and many real tears were shed by old friends and nearer ones as "Jim" Pieratt was laid to rest.

He was 70 years of age.

A SONOMA COUNTY EGG FOR LAND SHOW VISITORS

All of San Francisco will have a chance to carry home its breakfast on "Egg Day" at the California Land Show. Petaluma, the center of chicken farming is to distribute a carload of one day old eggs, on that day, free to every visitor at the exposition. The eggs, which at that time will retail at sixty cents a dozen, will be arranged in small cartons and will be of the most select variety to be had. The event will be under the auspices of the Petaluma Chamber of Commerce and will be in charge of J. L. Camm of Petaluma, a member of the executive board, who has been appointed chairman of the egg distribution. Mr. Camm will rally to his assistance the leading poultry raisers of that region and will have with him on his committee, J. E. Olmsted and V. C. Mattei.

Napa and Contra Costa counties are among the most recent to reserve space at the big show. Napa will show vintage fruits, wines and fresh fruits. Contra Costa will occupy two thousand square feet and besides the county exhibits Richmond industries will be featured.

President Frank Burris of the Sonoma Valley Bank has returned from a fine month's outing in Shasta county. He fished and hunted with an Indian guide and caught record catches of rainbow trout. He also killed a deer while on his trip.

At Vineburg on their return Mr. and Mrs. Chevalier were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Martin at dinner on Tuesday last.

The happy couple were married in Santa Rosa on Sept., 18, 1917. When the couple bade each other farewell the groom sang feelingly, "I'm off to the war, To the war I must go, To fight for my country and you dear, Bright sunny days soon pass away, But remember what I say and be true dear."

MOSQUITO EXECUTION NOT IN ROBT. P. HILL'S CLASS

As an executioner of the beastly mosquito you know Robt. P. Hill is no longer connected in official capacity for he resigned from the abatement board last Saturday. It is said that our prominent fellow citizen and high school trustee was haunted in his sleep by the obnoxious pests which swarmed his hitherto pleasant pillow and there threatened to recall him from the land of pleasant dreams should he persist in trying to drive them from their honored haunts.

Now Mr. Hill is a loyal citizen but his confidents declare that he was afraid the mosquitoes would really get in their work and he much prefers that they bear him no official grudge.

Some of Robert's intimates declare that he was afraid the Tax Payers League would commence buzzing around when he commenced to plan for the expenditure of that $500 appropriated in the last budget by the Supervisors of Sonoma county.

As a matter of confidential explanation Robert P. Hill is busy planning many improvements for the High School, is one of the executors of one of our largest estates and a man whose personal affairs are of considerable magnitude. He is therefore too busy to act on the Mosquito Board, hence his resignation.

LONDON'S BARN IS DESTROYED

Fire of Unknown Origin Visits Famous Ranch of Late Author.

A fire of unknown origin broke out on the Jack London ranch above Glen Ellen Wednesday morning and a large barn stored with hay was completely destroyed. The flames were discovered issuing from the barn about 11:30 and despite the heroic fight put up by the employees on the place, the big structure and its contents were a complete loss. Forty tons of choice red oat hay which had been grown on the ranch and just baled, a quantity of straw, harness and implements went up in smoke. Five horses in the corral were liberated without injury but one sorrel animal the favorite riding horse of the late author, was painfully burned by a blazing fence. Live wires fell during the conflagration and menaced the safety of both employees and livestock but fortunately neither was burned in the excitement.

When it became apparent that the barn was doomed all efforts were concentrated on the house which is close by and was in grave danger.

Two streams of water which gives a 90 pound pressure and is part of the London ranch protective system, were played on the dwelling with good effect.

Mrs. Shepard, superintendent of the ranch, can assign no cause for the conflagration which recalls the disastrous blaze of a few years ago when the palatial mansion being built by Mr. and Mrs. London, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin.

The barn and its contents will aggregate a loss of over $2000 with partial insurance.

Messrs. Vella, Sganzina and Leona, partners of the Mission Creamery, visited Duncan Mills Sunday in Mr. Vella's car. They report the roads dangerous but scenic and Vella a clever driver.

Tony Pecianti, lessee of the Gericke ranch, was thrown out of a rig in a runaway and badly bruised about the face in an accident at the ranch one day this week. He was treated for his abrasions by Dr. W. B. Hayes.

Robert P. Hill and wife and Supervisor Harry Weise and family were prominent visitors to Dillon's Beach during the warm weather. They found the ocean breeze very delightful.

EPH. WEISS, the expert refracting optician will be in Sonoma at the Hotel Union on October 2nd. Permanently located in the Whitney Bldg., 133 Geary St., S. F. advt.
